Walking for your Health

Main Hotel Lobby

Join Dawn Dewolf from Lane Community College for a walking session near the Sheraton Hotel. Meet in the main hotel lobby between 10:20 and 10:30 a.m. This will allow more time to change clothes (if needed) after the morning keynote. The walk will begin promptly at 10:30 a.m. Distance/time: Approximately 2 miles, 45 minutes. Terrain is flat. Clothing recommendations: Wear comfortable walking shoes, light to medium weight socks, and bring a light jacket if it's cold outside.

Mentoring: Past, Present and Future

Cascade A

Join a group of women who will form a panel to describe their mentoring relationships. The session will cover the history of mentoring, why it is a particularly fitting relationship for women, and how to get and be a mentor. All women can contribute to their profession and to their institution by being in a mentoring relationship. The panel will include Dr. Alice Jacobson, retired campus president, Sylvania Campus, Portland Community College, and currently a leadership and training coach; Dr. Linda Gerber, retired executive dean, Mt. Hood Community College, and currently a management consultant in higher education; Heather Lang, learning assistance and testing director, Mt. Hood Community College; and Sharon Juenemann, learning assistance coordinator and chair, Teaching and Learning Cooperative, Mt. Hood Community College.

Redesigning the Future Community College: What Does it Take?

Cascade B

Gretchen Schuette, president; Liz Goulard, vice president, Academic Affairs, Chemeketa Community College

Chemeketa has embarked on an ambitious plan to redesign the college's teaching and learning environment and the services that support it. The college is beginning year two of a multi-year journey of professional development, continuous improvement, and creative redesign. Through this process, each employee's contribution will be needed to successfully re-design teaching, learning, and the student-support environment. Join us as we outline the task at hand and share lessons we have learned.

Health Alternatives for Today's Professional Woman

Cascade B

Dr. Joseph Dombek, chiropractor; Dr. Kathryn Sawhill, naturopathic physician; and Sarah Johansen Gallagher, licensed massage therapist, Chiropractic Life Center West

This workshop focuses on women's health issues and how every small thing you do for yourself contributes to your overall health and well-being. Topics include self-massage and other relaxation techniques, women's health issues and alternatives to Western medical approaches, and ergonomics in the workplace.

The Journey is the Success

Garden A

Wanda Clifton-Faber, student success specialist, Blue Mountain Community College

"Success" isn't a concrete final product to be achieved only once at some given point in your lifetime. Success is more about the quality of your journey and how you get to where you're going. Join Wanda and a panel of students who will talk about their community college experiences and share their individual success stories.

The Art of Listening

Cascade C

Karin Magnuson, training specialist, Linn-Benton Community College

This workshop will allow the time and space to practice the art, choice, and gift of listening. Explore and practice listening from perspectives you may not have considered or may have taken for granted. Use enhanced listening to enrich your leadership skills at work, at home, and in the community. If we could be even 50 percent effective as listeners, we would significantly improve our ability to contribute in all areas of our life.

You are What You Think ... So Re-Think

Garden B

Catherine VanWetter, MSW, teacher and group facilitator

This workshop focuses on the power of our thoughts and our self-talk, and how they affect our emotional, physical, and mental health and well-being. With all the stress, anxiety, and fear so many individuals are experiencing, it is imperative that we re-learn how to manage our emotional and mental states. It is possible to live a life of joy, irrespective of circumstances, once we learn to manage our minds and truly experience how powerful and gifted we are.

Thursday p.m. – November 17

Noon-1:30 p.m.

Lunch with College Presidents
Introduction of College Presidents, Campus Contact Recognition,
Community College Excellence Awards, Carolyn DesJardins Leadership Award

Mt. Hood Ballroom

1:30-2:30 p.m.

Keynote Address: "See People for Who They Are"

Mt. Hood Ballroom

Comedienne, cover girl, and activist Debbie Wooten has the enviable gift of taking overwhelming adversities and turning them into positives. She was born in Chicago 45 years ago with spinal bifida and scoliosis. Her mother was an alcoholic, and at four months Wooten developed polio. Isolated by color and disability, Wooten's meeting at age 8 with the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. changed her life. Wooten uses her life struggles and triumphs in her comedic and inspirational presentation in a way that "captivates the room with charm, love, and knowledge."

2:30-2:45 p.m.

Break

Mt. Hood Foyer

2:45-4:15 p.m.

Concurrent Workshops (listed on page 4)

Mt. Hood C, Garden A and B,
Cascade A, B, C

Thursday p.m. – November 17 (continued)

Walking for Your Health

Main Hotel Lobby

Join Margaret Bradford, Rogue Community College, for a walking session near the Sheraton Hotel. She'll provide tips on how to make walking more beneficial to your overall health. Meet in the main hotel lobby between 2:45 and 3 p.m. This will allow more time to change clothes (if needed) after the afternoon keynote. The walk will begin promptly at 3 p.m. Distance/time: Approximately 2 to 3 miles, 45 to 60 minutes. Terrain is flat. Wear comfortable walking shoes, light- to medium-weight socks, and bring a light jacket if it's cold.

Your Professional Resume

Mt. Hood C

Becky Washington, career services coordinator, Portland Community College

Does your resume show you in a positive light, reflecting your skills, talents, and numerous accomplishments? Does your resume need a few minor revisions or a complete renovation? Join Becky and learn techniques for maximizing your resume's impact on the reader. Sing your praises professionally. Communicate your strengths with measurable accomplishments. Get tips and practical solutions to resume challenges.

Finding Purpose in Your Work: Bloom Where You are Planted

Cascade B

Lisa Edwards, CEO of Bloom

This workshop will help women discover how their contribution makes a difference by understanding their unique talents and identifying their personal mission and how that mission relates to their role in an organization. Participants will identify talents that tap into their personal passion, discover how engagement is directly tied to maximizing talents at work, learn how their personal mission is linked to their role in an organization, and identify ways to help employees re-engage in their work.

Everyone is Welcome at the Table

Garden B

Susan Wolff, dean of Instruction, Columbia Gorge Community College

Possibilities are endless when all members of a team contribute to the creativity, critical thinking, solutions, and products of an organization. But the best part of having a full table is creating a sense of place and belonging. Living and leading with integrity and respect for others makes each day an opportunity to enrich our own lives and those of others. Everyone can make a significant contribution to the well being of our colleges if only they are invited.

Working Styles

Cascade A

Mary Spilde, president, Lane Community College

Discover your working style and how that knowledge can help you contribute more fully on the job and communicate more effectively with others. Are you an assertive, take-charge person who focuses on results? Do you share your feelings openly and consider yourself warm, receptive, and outgoing? Are practicality, patience, and perseverance on your list of attributes? Do you focus primarily on others and enjoy being supportive and a strong team player? Mary will guide you through some exercises to help identify your working style and will suggest techniques for improving "versatility" so that you can utilize your less-prominent working styles to help build positive working relationships.

Voices of Courage: Insights on Lesbian and Gay Leadership at Your College

Cascade C

Jill Ward, director of Counseling, Career, Disability Services, and Student Life, Chemeketa Community College; Alice Jacobson, retired campus president, Sylvania Campus, Portland Community College; Dawn DeWolf, division chair, Adult Basic and Secondary Education, Lane Community College; and Kate Barry, director of the Women's Program, Lane Community College

This group of women will talk about the challenges lesbian women face as leaders in today's world. The workshop also will feature a 25-minute video from Chemeketa Community College, with a panel discussion to follow, that brings to light gay and lesbian employee insights of working at community colleges. Jill Ward will facilitate the session.

Walking the Labyrinth: A Path for Transformation

Garden A

Gloria Jost, M. Div., certified Veriditas labyrinth facilitator, Viveritas Ministries

The labyrinth is an ancient symbol for the journey of life and wholeness. In this workshop, you will literally walk across a 26-foot canvas labyrinth and discover how the labyrinth can be a powerful tool for reflection, meditation, and deeper knowledge. Walking the labyrinth allows for people to access the wisdom necessary to know what, where, when, and how they can make a difference with their unique gifts and skills.

- 4:30-5:15 p.m. Marcia Keith and Artis vanRassel Memorial Gathering Oregon Suite, Fifth Floor
For anyone who wants to share thoughts and memories about Marcia or Artis with others in the room. A champagne and apple cider toast will be held.
- 4:30-5:30 p.m. OILD/NILD Reception Garden Foyer
- 6-9 p.m. Mystery Murder Banquet Mt. Hood C
Enjoy a sumptuous Tuscan dinner while mingling with the hilarious and internationally acclaimed Eddie May characters. (Pre-registration and payment required.)

Friday – November 18

- 7:30-9 a.m. Campus Contacts and Chapter President Breakfast Mt. Hood C
- 8 a.m.-noon Registration Desk Open Mt. Hood Foyer
- 8-9 a.m. Breakfast Mt. Hood Ballroom
- 9-10 a.m. Keynote: “Antislavery Angels: Ordinary Women’s Approach to Activism” Mt. Hood Ballroom
- Stacey Robertson, author and director of Women’s Studies and History at Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., will explore female activism by highlighting women’s contributions to the all-important antislavery movement in 19th-century America. Focusing on the underground railroad, female antislavery societies, fund-raising fairs and political parties, she will show how women across the North used their finely tuned skills to challenge slavery in the South.

- 10-10:15 a.m. Break – coffee and tea served Mt. Hood Foyer
- 10-11:45 a.m. Concurrent Workshops (listed below and on page 6) Mt. Hood C, Garden A,B, C, Cascade A, B, C

Walking for Your Health

Main Hotel Lobby

Join Kristen Jones from Linn-Benton Community College for a walking session around the bike paths and sidewalks near the Sheraton Hotel. Meeting time: Meet in the main hotel lobby between 10:15 and 10:30 a.m. This will allow more time to change clothes (if needed) after the morning keynote. The walk will begin promptly at 10:30 a.m. Distance/time: Approximately 2 miles, 45 to 50 minutes. Terrain is flat. Clothing recommendations: Wear comfortable walking shoes, light to medium weight socks, and bring a light jacket if it’s cold outside.

Leading from the Where You Are

Cascade B

You don’t have to hold the position of director, president, or chief executive officer to be a leader. Women can use their leadership skills in all walks of life, regardless of their position at work or their role at home or in the community. Join Dawn DeWolf, Lane Community College, and Julie Huckestein, Chemeketa Community College, as they facilitate a panel discussion about “Leading from the Middle,” or how to contribute your leadership skills and talents when you serve in a position that is outside the traditional leadership role.

Playtime: The Contribution of Fun at Work

Mt. Hood C

Kate Dins, dean, Business, Technology, and Public Services Division, Portland Community College
Is it okay to have fun at work and still be productive and maintain your professionalism? Of course it is! “Fun” isn’t a four-letter word. Using dialogue, toys, and interactive activities, this workshop will help participants see how play can be made part of work – and make life more fun and help us feel healthier and happier.

Friday – November 18 (continued)

Ergonomics: Being Comfortable at Work and at Play

Cascade A

Marilyn Hill, safety coordinator, Linn-Benton Community College

It's hard to contribute at work or at play if your body hurts. Feel better and do more. This workshop will help you identify tasks you perform at home or at work that may be causing physical discomfort. What are the costs of not changing the way we do things? Sore muscles? Back pain? Carpal tunnel? Injury? We'll review stretching exercises and other tools and techniques to improve your comfort level and reduce injury potential. Changing one small thing can make a big difference in how you feel.

UP!ward Bound, It Begins with U!

Cascade C

Joan L. Hartley, consultant

Are you feeling stuck? Do you find that the circumstances of life are controlling your outlook? Need a shot of energy and enthusiasm? Those who are UP!Ward Bound maintain a positive outlook and exude energy, confidence, and enthusiasm in everything they undertake. It's about having energy and enthusiasm, appreciating the small daily happenings that make life spectacular, and it's about doing what we love and loving what we do. Join Joan Hartley, motivational speaker and consultant, and discover the magic of being Upward Bound.

Communication: The Vital Leadership Skill

Garden B

Katherine Collins, KMC Communications

Communication is a key ingredient when it comes to effective leadership. Effective leaders are those who understand the importance of public relations and communicating openly – and often – with stakeholders. This workshop will focus on what public relations really is and why building relationships based on trust is mission critical for community college leaders who want to make a positive difference.

Panel of Women Legislators and Community College Leaders

Garden A

Cam Preus-Braly, commissioner, Department of Community Colleges and Workforce Development; Andrea Henderson, executive director, Oregon Community College Association; Representatives Debi Farr (R-Eugene); and Vicki Walker (D-Eugene)

Join legislators and community college leaders as they share insights about their careers and personal paths. Followed by a question-and-answer session.

Your Story Will Make a Difference

Garden C

Carolyn Waterfall, workplace effectiveness trainer and consultant, Dynamic Worklife

Use storytelling to persuade, motivate, and inspire in ways that cold facts can't. Learn how to use your personal story to reach people and make a powerful difference in their lives and your own. Engage your learners, invest more meaning in your work, and increase your courage and confidence through sharing your story and listening to the stories of others.

11:45 a.m. - 12:45 p.m.

Annual Business Luncheon

Mt. Hood Ballroom

Election Results, Door Prizes, Special Drawing

12:45 p.m. - 1:45 p.m.

Keynote: Absolute A Capella

Mt. Hood Ballroom

Using tight vocal harmonies in performances that include everything from serious sounds to silly, fun composition, the ensemble will make your heart laugh and your spirit soar. Absolute members are Lauren Ohlgren, Micki Reaman, Viki Shilaos, Lucy Watts, Julie Williams, Shelley Willis, and Elizabeth Wyatt.

In Loving Memory

Marcia Keith

Marcia L. Keith, former Clackamas Community College associate dean of Business and past state AAWCC board member, died Aug. 21, 2005, of a heart attack.

She served on the state board for nine years in varying positions including vice president of communications, president-elect, president and past president.

Marcia was instrumental in leading the state organization's support of local campus chapter development and the establishment of state and local leadership awards. It was under Marcia's leadership that the current mission of AAWCC: "To inspire, champion and celebrate the talents within each of us," was developed.

Marcia also was instrumental in organizing AAWCC members and community college women statewide to participate in the Susan G. Komen Foundation Portland Race for the Cure.

Marcia served as associate dean of Business at Clackamas until she retired in 1999. After retirement, Marcia continued to be active at the state level, working for Congresswoman Darlene Hooley and later as a lobbyist at the state capitol.

Marcia will be remembered for so many things including her advocacy on women's issues, her strong leadership of the state organization, her red hair, beautiful smile and her knock-out jewelry.

Marcia inspired many women in her role as a mentor, colleague, and friend. Those who knew her have suffered a tremendous personal loss and will miss her greatly.

Contributions may be made to the Marcia Keith Memorial Scholarship Endowment at Clackamas Community College Foundation, 19600 S Molalla Avenue, Oregon City, OR 97045, or to the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation, 1400 SW 5th Avenue, Suite 530, Portland, OR 97201.

Artis vanRassel

Artis vanRassel, past AAWCC state board member and former human resources director at Tillamook Bay Community College, died of cancer June 12, 2005. She served on the AAWCC board from 1996 to 2000.

Artis contributed greatly toward the success of AAWCC. As a board member, she assisted with conferences and special assignments. She had a passion for helping women grow professionally and ensuring the inclusion of women from small, rural colleges in state activities.

Artis also had a passion for peace and social justice. She was involved in numerous community groups and activities.

Her volunteer activities included founding Conflict Solutions in Tillamook, an organization that mediates disputes and attempts to preserve relationships in a community; organizing Tillamook's chapter of Women in Black; working for Tillamook County Futures Council; and facilitating meetings of the Partners for Tillamook group. She also was a volunteer firefighter and justice of the peace for Oceanside.

When she left TBCC, she enrolled in Portland State University to earn a Master's degree in mediation. She received her degree prior to her death and had just launched Paths to Peace, her own mediation business.

Artis will be remembered for her deep passion, her commitment to world peace, her ability to make a difference in everything she did, her wonderful laugh, and beautiful red hair.

Contributions can be made to Conflict Solution of Tillamook, 201 Laurel Ave., Tillamook, OR 97141.

Carolyn DesJardins Leadership Award

The mission of the Oregon Chapter of the American Association for Women in Community Colleges is to inspire, champion, and celebrate the talents within each of us. To recognize and celebrate this mission, the AAWCC Board of Directors receives nominations for the prestigious Carolyn DesJardins Leadership Award. This award is given to someone who has demonstrated outstanding leadership and made a significant contribution to community colleges. The recipient does not have to be an AAWCC member. Criteria for receiving the award include demonstrated ability to inspire, champion, or celebrate women as leaders.

Dr. Carolyn DesJardins' career included 26 years in the Maricopa Community College District. She was a recipient of numerous awards and honors. Her greatest award, however, was knowing that over 3,000 women and many men saw their lives enriched, enabled, and changed forever through the programs, scholarships, articles, and presentations she sponsored or made, as well as through her powerful hugs, deep caring, and strong advocacy for all of us to be the very best we could be.

Past winners of the Carolyn DesJardins Leadership Award:

Nan Poppe, Gretchen Schuette, Shirley Anderson, Brenda Brecke, Carolyn DesJardins, Nikki Harrington, Alice Jacobson, Terri Johanson, Marcia Keith, Rebecca Kenney, Dan Moriarty, Mary Spilde, Stephanie Sussman.

Community College Excellence Awards

The AAWCC Board of Directors celebrates individuals chosen by local AAWCC membership whose accomplishments made a difference for women at his or her own community college over the past year. The recipient need not be a member of AAWCC to receive the award.

We love to document our events with lots of photographs!

We use these images for:

- The AAWCC-Oregon Website (www.aawccoregon.org)
- The fall or spring newsletter (published online)
- The slide show we run each year at the conference, showing past and current conference highlights

We'll make every effort to be sure everyone photographed wants to be included. If you would prefer not to appear in photos, just alert the photographer.

If your picture is included on the Website, newsletter, or slide show and you would like it removed, we will be happy to accommodate your request. For more information or to make a request, contact board@awccoregon.org

Thank you to campus presidents, partner agency directors, and individual participants who donated items for the door prizes and silent auction.
